MURDEROUS BAND OF PORTO RICANS OPERATING IN KONA

REIGN OF TERROR REPORTED TO EXIST IN THAT SECTION—CUT-THROATS HOLDING UP PEOPLE ON THE HIGHWAY AND STABBING VICTIMS WHO REFUSE TO SURRENDER VALUABLES—TWO NATIVES STABBED NEAR KAILUA.

There is a reign of terror in Kona. The same road seems to be the favorite stamping ground for the Porto Ricans. No citizen dares to go along that road after dark unless armed. The citizens are organizing themselves into an impromptu vigilance committee. Practically every citizen who has a pistol goes armed at night in the Kona district. It would not be surprising, if a hanging bee were to occur in case any of the Porto Rican vagrants are captured.

The Porto Ricans have been in Kona for about two months. They went to that district from Kau about the time that S. E. Damon was murdered near Moanalua. The Porto Ricans secured employment on the Kona roads. About twenty of them went to Kona from Kau. Robberies have been constant since they went to Kona.

Perjury In Immigration Department Discovered

LOCAL FEDERAL OFFICIALS MAY INSTITUTE PROSECUTION AGAINST SEVERAL LOCAL PEOPLE ON CHARGE OF SWEARING FALSELY TO HELP ASIATICS TO SECURE ADMISSION TO COUNTRY—TWO CASES DEVELOPED IN MANCHURIA IMMIGRANTS.

The local immigration and Federal officials have under investigation the matter of suspected perjury in immigration affairs. A great deal of perjury has been indulged in by certain residents of the city over the admission of Asiatics. Two very strong cases of probable perjury were detected by the immigration officials during the examination over the admission of some passengers arriving last week by the S. S. Manchuria. The matter has been taken under investigation by the Federal authorities and it would not be surprising if some prosecutions would follow.

The cases on the Manchuria are not the first to be noticed by the immigration officials. Other people are thought to have indulged in the same practice. The misrepresentations were made while the witnesses were under oath and prosecutions for perjury can be made under the Federal laws.

HOME RULERS ARE DISGUSTED

THE PARTY MAY GO TO PIECES
ON THE ISLAND OF MAUI—LEADERS GONE.

WAILUKU, November 10.—As a result of the complete defeat at the polls of the Home Rule party, it is claimed in some quarters, that the party will not be revived again in this island. Just how much truth there is in the rumor, no one seems to know definitely. They are without a leader, and as all of their candidates were defeated by a big majority, not one of them reaching the thousand mark, there is a feeling of disgust among the followers of Wilcox. This will probably mean the revival of the Democratic party, and if this happens, we will then run politics in the same style as mainland politics, as far as parties are concerned.

KILOHANA ART LEAGUE.
The twenty-second semi annual exhibition of the Kilohana Art League will soon be opened and work will be received therefor at the League Rooms in the Alexander Young Building between the hours of nine and five tomorrow.

NOTLEY SECOND

COMPLETE FIGURES FROM MAUI, MOLOKAI AND LANAI SHOW THAT HE BEAT LAUKEA IN THAT DISTRICT—REPUBLICAN SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES ELECTED BY GOOD MAJORITIES. THE ELECTION A QUIET ONE.

WAILUKU, November 10.—A complete landslide for the Republican party on Maui is the result of the balloting for different candidates on November 8. The day threatened to be a stormy one, but along towards noon the rain abated. At the different precincts quiet reigned. The day had the appearance of a Sunday. At the different precincts there was no rushing to cast votes. On the contrary from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. the inspectors had all the time they wanted to run things smoothly. With the exception of two or three precincts all Maui, Molokai and Lanai gave Kuhl and the Republican candidates for the legislature a majority. The Home rule and democratic candidates were completely snowed under, which was unexpected of Maui, as she has always gone Home Rule heretofore. Coke, Democratic candidate for senator, was beaten on the outside districts, where he was not as popular as in his home town. From the schedule below showing the different votes cast, it will be seen that Kuhl has a majority of about 350 over Notley and Laukea combined.

Alfred Hayseiden of Lahaina leads the whole ticket with 1362 votes to his credit. Kalama follows with 1311 ballots in his favor. Those elected to the legislature from Maui are: For the Senate, A. N. Hayseiden and S. E. Kalama; for the House, W. J. Coelho, G. Copp, J. Kalina, M. Nakutina, Phillip Pail and W. P. Hala. The appended list will give a more detailed report of the voting by precincts:

THE BATTLE OF BROTHERS

H. M. KANIHO, OF LADY DOG FAME, WON A SWEEPING VICTORY.

H. M. Kaniho the solitary Home Ruler, met a shocking death this week in Kona. He had been to Kailua on election day and became intoxicated. He got on his horse at night to ride to Hualalo. He carried two bottles of wine in his pockets. He was thrown from his horse and fell upon one of the bottles. The glass broke and dismembered the man. The accident occurred about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. He lay helpless on the road until 7 o'clock the next morning. Some one passing, heard his groans and went to his assistance. Kaniho was taken to a house and given medical attendance, but died during the day.

Up in Kailua where Laukea ran ahead of Kaniho by a big plurality, there appeared to be much ignorance of the manner of voting. From the way in which some of the ballots were marked, some "square face" must have been flowing. Some of the ballots bore only some opprobrious names across their face, not a mark for any candidate being made. Another voter had written his own name across the face of the ballot. No less than 49 faulty ballots were rejected out of a total of 205 cast. The total registration was 218.

RETURNS ARE INCOMPLETE

It was thought this morning that there might be a bare possibility of the full returns from the First, Second and Third districts reaching the office of the Secretary of the Territory on the mail brought by the Mauna Loa, but when the envelopes were opened it was found that there are still many missing precincts to be heard from.

The precincts reporting from the Second District, Hawaii, were numbers 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, all of which are in Kona. From Maui, the places reporting were Lahaina, Honokohau, Lanai, Wailuku, Waialeale and Hamakua-poko.

While the returns are incomplete, the showing made by the reported precincts all goes to show that the first unofficial reports of Republican successes all along the line were, if anything, underestimated. The returns should be complete by the beginning of the week.

IROQUOIS AT HILO.

HILO, November 8.—The U. S. S. Iroquois, which arrived Friday afternoon in command of Capt. A. P. Niblack, is making a tour of inspection of the federal light house and government buoys. At Kawaihae Capt. Niblack examined the light house at that point and will inspect the construction of the new light house now being built on Maui, where the Kinai light formerly stood. At Makena a relocation of the buoy will be made and about January 1st the Blond reef buoy designating the entrance to Hilo harbor will be replaced by a regulation government marking buoy.

During her stay in port the marines off the vessel, under the name of the Malle limas, played two games of baseball with a picked Hilo nine, worsting the home team on both occasions. Before her arrival at Hilo, the Iroquois proceeded to Kealahou Bay and the Jackies put Captain Cook's monument in a more presentable shape. As to the prospects for the early construction of light houses in the Territory and especially along the Hamakua coast, Capt. Niblack was

CUT TO DEATH BY A BOTTLE

NATIVE CATTLEMAN MET HORRIBLE FATE NEAR KAILUA—FELL ON BOTTLE.

Makini, a well known native cattleman, met a shocking death this week in Kona. He had been to Kailua on election day and became intoxicated. He got on his horse at night to ride to Hualalo. He carried two bottles of wine in his pockets. He was thrown from his horse and fell upon one of the bottles. The glass broke and dismembered the man. ## PACIFIC MAIL WANTS STEAMERS

TRYING TO GET TWO MORE FOR PORTLAND AND MEXICAN TRADE.

SEATTLE, October 28.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Company has agents in the city endeavoring to charter two vessels. They are reported to be looking over the Nome fleet, many of whose vessels will tie up for the winter.

The Pacific Mail wants a large passenger and freight carrier for the Mexican run and another for the San Francisco-Portland route. Water traffic, both passenger and freight, between San Francisco and Portland is reported to be rapidly increasing, in view of the business arising from the Lewis and Clark exposition which opens in the Oregon metropolis next year.

WHALING IN THE SOUTH SEAS

GERMANS BAR THEIR ISLANDS TO WHALERS—THE MORGAN'S VERY EXCITING TRIP.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The German Government officials in the South Sea Islands have barred their little isles to the whaling men and have gone so far as to refuse even landing to the men who hunt for blubber in tropical seas. The whaling bark, C. W. Morgan, which arrived in port yesterday from an eleven months' cruise, found an inhospitable welcome from the Germans of the southern islands.

At McAskill island in the Caroline group, Captain Earle of the C. W. Morgan anchored and manned a boat to go ashore and get water and vegetables. Upon approaching the beach he was met by the German official who was armed and warned the Captain that if he set foot on land he would have him clapped in irons. He absolutely refused to let the ship have any water or fresh provisions. At Pleasant island the same reception was awarded the whalers. Governor Gipper at first sent out an invitation for Captain Earle to come ashore and later he sent out word—no one was to land on penalty of death. So the whaler was compelled to continue her voyage and seek other places where a greater hospitality awaited them. At Ocean Island the sparsely clothed natives came off to the ship and proffered fresh fruit and vegetables in return for sundry small articles.

The cruise of the C. W. Morgan was fraught with accidents and many exciting incidents. From this port she sailed to the South Seas, thence to the coast of Japan and finished up her cruise in Okhotsk sea. At the island of Guam six of the crew attempted to desert. During the night they threw the hatch coverings over the side and attempted to float ashore. They were recaptured and thrown in irons. Two of the men managed to make their escape at Guam and two others deserted at Hakodate. The crew complain of the food on the vessel and recite numerous instances when men were knocked down by belaying pins and thrown in irons. Manuel Silva, the boat steerer, died on December 25th and was buried at sea. The Morgan encountered numerous gales and lost considerable gear. Several boats went stove in by being struck by whales and in several instances the men were compelled to fight for their lives against the monsters of the deep.

In all the men of the C. W. Morgan captured forty-eight whales and in her hold when she returned here yesterday were 1,450 barrels of sperm oil and 2,100 pounds of whalebone. Two Japanese stowed away on the vessel at Hakodate and were brought to this port.
